

Thesis

The thesis serves the (in-depth) examination of a topic chosen by the candidate. Theoretical basics are to be linked and presented with practical adventure and nature therapy interventions (e.g. emotion regulation through adventure and nature therapy, trauma stabilisation through adventure and nature therapy, adventure and nature therapy as a form of intervention within the framework of family therapy).

You conceptualise individual theory topics that you link to practice from the perspective of a future adventure & nature therapist.

The topic of the thesis is submitted to ATI for topic approval before it is written. A synopsis (1-page summary) should be prepared for this purpose.

In the certification module, all participants have the task of presenting and discussing the central theoretical assumptions of their thesis in the form of a colloquium. The theses are archived at ATI and can also be viewed there later by other participants.

length, form and style:

The length of the thesis should not exceed 25 -30 pages (1.5 lines, 60 characters per line, 35 lines per page, margin 2.5 cm) (without appendix) and should follow the usual academic criteria (cover sheet, outline, citations, bibliography, creator, date, etc.).

You are welcome to change the layout accordingly and get creative. But then you should submit 2 versions digitally, so that the works can be compared with each other. One version should meet the above criteria.

You can also choose a different type of digital presentation, but the outline or criteria should also be found here.

deadline:

The deadline will usually be communicated 6 months BEFORE the certification module via various media. The thesis must be submitted approx. 8 weeks BEFORE the certification module. The deadline will also be announced.

people with special needs/ impairments

If you have an impairment (e.g. visual impairment, German or English is not your native language) that prevents you from meeting the requirements listed here, we will be happy to work with you to develop a feasible variant.

summary:

- ✓ approval of the exposé by ATI (prior topic approval)
- ✓ the thesis is written according to the requirements of scientific work and is defended in the professional discussion/final colloquium.
- ✓ thesis (25 - 30 pages according to the specifications for length, form & style, even if you choose a different type of digital presentation - then submit twice)
- ✓ punctual submission by the announced deadline

Exposé of thesis

Before you start the detailed planning of the thesis, create an exposé.

Please use this form, scan it and send it to ATI.
